SUPER SOFTWARE!

You can expand the use of old Color Computer disk files, and keep them from becoming obsolete...

If you're like me, I'll bet you're not using your Color Computer these days... or maybe just a little. But if you are like me, you probably have lots of old files still laying around on Color Computer disks. Right?
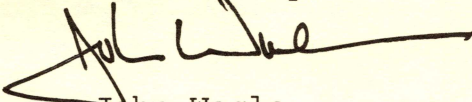

I have some old Tax Return spreadsheets that I would like to see again. Do you have any old phone numbers, or an old mailing list? What about your old word-processor text files? Maybe some letters, school papers or company reports? There might even be some old BASIC programs that you would like to use again.

My point is, we all have some important information on those old Color Computer disks. The real question is, will you ever use those files again? If you do nothing, then we already know the answer... those files are gone, obsolete and lost forever. However, there is something you can do to use those files again.

We designed a program called Elite•Xfer™... it runs on any MS-DOS computer, and lets that computer read Color Computer disks. Your CoCo files can now be directly copied to MS-DOS for your editing and use. It's just that simple! You don't even need a Color Computer anymore, just your old CoCo disks.

Here's a real value... right now you can buy Elite•Xfer™ for only $29.95 (you'll save $39 from the regular list price of $69. Take advantage of this special limited time offer. This offer is available only from Elite Software, and YOU MUST ORDER NOW.

Yours truly,

John Waclo,
