Mr. Alan Huffman:

I don't know if you've heard of me, or our keep it legal campaign. I tour the country speaking to many groups and give siminars, on the subject of "Software Pirating".

The situation in all age groups is to say the least deplorable! I explain the advantages of legal software, and there are many. To further demonstrate the pit-falls of software theft; I've been accompanied by a pitiful example of abuse. Larry Snodgrass. Also known as "Sneaky Snod". (that's ending with a "d" not a "t", as some mispronounce)

Toward the end of each speaking engagement; I'd point out Larry, who'd sit; with his two day beard, picking his nose, wheezing and snorting, as he made obscene gestures to the ladies. This pointed to the outcome of a good user, who had gone bad. He did love a lot of ketchup on his spegetti and; many times, he'd end the seminar with a loud barf; spuewing over several people. On a good day he could cover two rows.

Larry however, past on recently. Sad as it was and as much as we miss him, he is no longer available. I was wondering, however if; you could fill in for Larry? We really need your help as; we've noticed a definate lack in "all our engagements".
