WELCOME to ATLANTA'S COCOFEEST IV!

This is the fourth COCOFEEST held in Atlanta, Ga. Thanks for joining us in our continued support of the Tandy Color Computer!

Each year the Fest gets larger even though Radio Shack abandoned the Color Computer several years ago. The powers in control at Tandy decided that DOS was the way of the future. They were WRONG! Every day third party vendors come out with software and add-ons for the CoCo.

OS-9 is an inexpensive, powerful multitasking operating system that can be used as a learning step to a full blown Unix or OS-9 based system used in industry. In many ways, it is superior to anything else available.

The many loyal supporters of the Color Computer are the reason for our past and future successes of the COCOFEESTS, as well as the Atlanta Computer Society. If you should need anything to make your attendance here more satisfying, please ask any of our members for whatever it is that you might need. We are here to help you enjoy your visit with us. All ACS members can be easily identified by their gold-color identification badges. Please, if you need anything, just ask us and we will do our best. Thank you very much for attending our fest, and have a very safe journey home.

A C S

Your host club, The Atlanta Computer Society, Inc., is the oldest computer club in the Southeast. Our club supports all computer users, and specializes in support for the Tandy Color Computer and OSK machines.

Be sure to stop by at the ACS booth for chances to win great prizes! (Made possible by the generous donations from the many fine CoCo vendors listed on the previous page.)

Also, be sure to check our booth for the latest fest info, or for any assistance you might need.
