WINNIE THE POOH IN THE HUNDRED ACRE WOOD

A fun-filled adventure game for ages 7 and up

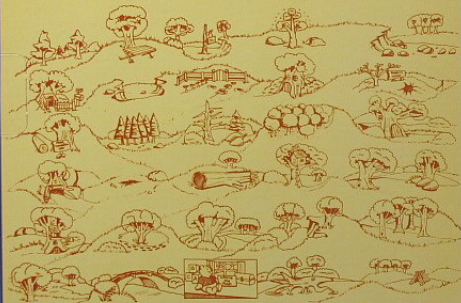

SIERRA

Welcome to the Hundred Acre Wood

Travel through the woods and meet all your favorite Winnie the Pooh characters. Use the map to keep track of where you've been, what you've found, and where you want to go.

One night a blustery wind blew through the Hundred Acre Wood and mixed up everything in the forest. At first, Winnie the Pooh thought he had simply mislaid a few things.

"That's odd," said Winnie the Pooh, "I think I'm missing a few things."

"Well, I seem to be missing a few things too. You probably don't think they're of any value, but they mean a lot to me." Eeyore sighed. "Anyway, I don't suppose anybody cares."

As it turned out nearly everybody in the wood seemed to be missing something—Pooh, Piglet, Eeyore, Rabbit, Kanga, Roo, and even Christopher Robin.

It's up to you to find and return all the missing belongings to the characters in the wood. It's not as easy as it sounds, though.

That fun-loving Tigger just won't let you alone—he'll bounce you around the wood just when you least expect it.

While finding the missing items and figuring out who they belong to, you can visit all the character's homes, learn the Winnie the Pooh song, sit in Pooh's Thoughtful Spot and even explore a Heffalump trap. But don't delay too long or the mist may rise causing you to wander through the woods until it lifts, or the blustery wind may strike again mixing things up. But, a wonderful surprise is being planned for the hero who returns all the items to Pooh and his friends!

"...all the special places of the Hundred Acre Wood are incorporated in the Adventure...would win the Oscar for Best Adaptation if it were a movie."

—Analog Computing Magazine

Originally created by British author A.A. Milne, Winnie the Pooh, Christopher Robin and friends have captivated children for generations. Walt Disney adopted Milne's characters into the Disney family and brought the characters to life for the first time in the 1966 feature film, "Winnie the Pooh and the Honey Tree."

WINNIE THE POOH IN THE HUNDRED ACRE WOOD

PLAY IT OVER AND OVER - IT'S A DIFFERENT GAME EACH TIME YOU PLAY

A blustery wind came up last night in the Hundred Acre Wood; it picked things up and blew them everywhere. Now it's up to you to find and return all the missing belongings to the characters in the wood.

Walt Disney Personal Computer Software by Sierra captures your child's imagination while developing necessary skills and building knowledge. The stunning graphics, delightful characters, and compelling and challenging activities all motivate your child to grasp the concepts involved.

■ MAP SKILLS

The picture map of the Hundred Acre Wood will help your child find the characters he or she is looking for. If your child is at Pooh's house and would like to visit Eeyore's gloomy place, he or she can look at the map to plan out the best route.

■ READING SKILLS

Your child will only be able to return the missing belongings to Pooh and his friends by paying careful attention to the many messages in the game. You'll see your child's reading skills improve each time the game is played.

■ LOGICAL THINKING

Owl is willing to help by giving clues, but he won't tell everything your child needs to know. Players will have to figure out which items belong to whom from hints given in the game.
