Introduction

In this TRS-80® Color Computer game, you are the commander of a fleet of spaceships. Your mission is to clear a path among the stars so that your fleet can leave star base Alpha and safely reach star base Beta.

As you blast off from star base Alpha, it is apparent that the task will not be easy. Asteroids, magnetic mines, and alien attack ships block the path and threaten to destroy you. Asteroids and alien ships might also sneak up from behind and attempt to destroy you. . .so beware!

You must use your wits and all the ships at your command to complete the journey successfully.

Good luck!

The Control Panel

The top portion of the screen is the main display for the game. Just below the main display, in the center of the screen, is the scanner.

When playing the game, pay close attention to the objects on the scanner. The screen shows only a limited view of the action taking place, but the scanner shows the positions of all objects. The current player's ship is a white dot. The other ships in the convoy are the same color as the command ship in the main display. All other objects are shown in the same color as the main display.

The first player's score and game status are shown to the left of the scanner. The second player's status is on the right side of the screen.  $S = _$  represents the number of ships remaining.  $C = _$  is the number of spaceships, and  $R = _$  is the reserve count.

Playing the Game

You have three ships at your command at the beginning of the game. Your mission is to clear a path through a myriad of obstacles so that your fleet of spaceships can safely make the journey from star base Alpha to star base Beta. Alpha and Beta are shown on the screen as flashing vertical lines. Your fleet of ships can cross over the lines to safety, but your ship cannot.

If a fleet member collides with an obstacle or is hit by hostile fire, it is destroyed. If all ships in the fleet are destroyed or you run out of fuel, your ship explodes. If a ship blows up from running out of fuel or hitting an object, the remaining members of the fleet carry on. If the entire fleet is destroyed on your last turn, that mission is scratched and a new one begins.

Approximately one unit of fuel is burned if your ship is hit by an attacking ship's fire. You can refuel by maneuvering your ship so that it touches the white fuel cannister on a fleet ship. The cannister then disappears and your ship is refueled.

An attack ship can seize a member of your fleet by attaching itself to the fleet ship in a "sneak attack." If one of your ships is stolen, the fleet count (C =   ) shows the loss. The reserve count is also lessened by one. You can save the fleet ship by destroying the alien ship before it disappears at the bottom of the screen.

Entering Commands

To maneuver the spaceships, move the joystick or press the , , , or  arrow keys.

To fire missiles, press the button on the joystick control or use the space bar on the keyboard.

Press the button on the joystick control (or space bar if using the keyboard) to begin.

Press  to end the mission or  to pause. Press any key to resume a paused game.

Scoring

After you successfully complete the mission and each fleet member safely docks at star base Beta, you are rewarded with 500 points for each ship that is home safe and another ship and fleet.

The obstacles in the path are worth points if you can destroy them.

Asteroid = 20 points

Magnetic Mine = 50 points

Alien Ship = 100 points

With a difficulty level of easy, only asteroids appear. If you successfully complete the mission, the game automatically advances to the next level of difficulty (medium).

Magnetic mines and alien ships appear on the screen with a medium level of difficulty, and the game becomes more intense. If you successfully complete the mission with a difficulty level of medium, a one-time bonus of 3000 points is given and the game automatically advances to the next level of difficulty (hard).

When you reach the difficulty level of hard, the obstacles are greater in number, and the action is much faster. A bonus of 6000 points is given if you successfully complete the mission with the difficulty level of hard.

An extra ship and an extra fleet reserve (maximum of six) are given as rewards at every 10,000 points.

The program keeps an internal record of the top 25 scores of the games played. After each game, the screen shows the ranking (1 to 25) at the bottom of the main display, just above the scanner.
